Carmen Drahl

carmendrahl@nasw.org

Experienced chemistry communicator. Proven ability to create new and engaging products by working collaboratively, while upholding scientific rigor.

EXPERIENCE

Freelance Science Journalist Oct. 2018-present
Bylines include Forbes, Scientific American, Science News, DCist, Princeton Alumni Weekly.

Senior Correspondent, Chemical & Engineering News Feb. 2018-Sept. 2018
Edited weekly news and briefs. Reported on chemistry R&D. Editorial lead for Amazon Alexa voice project. Initiated syndication partnerships for Spanish-language C&EN content with news outlets in Spain, Mexico, and Colombia.

Content Manager, ThinkFoodGroup Jan. 2016-June 2016
Provided editorial, creative, and strategic support for all original content, in English and Spanish, published by ThinkFoodGroup, the company owned by Michelin-starred Chef José Andrés.

Freelance Science Journalist Jan. 2015-Jan. 2018
Commissioned ACS journal articles for the editors of Chemical & Engineering News's targeted SCENE news feeds. Advisory board member for American Institute of Physics' Inside Science Television and the Boston Museum of Science's ChemAttitudes project. Served as the writer liaison to the Spanish Translation Team for the National Institutes of Health's All of Us Research Program.

Senior Editor, Chemical & Engineering News Aug. 2007- Dec. 2014
Reported on chemistry R&D. Prioritized simultaneous projects under daily, weekly, and monthly deadline pressure. Co-created award-winning Speaking of Chemistry video series. Managed magazine YouTube channel. Incepted C&EN's guide to the American Chemical Society national meetings. Collaborated with editorial and marketing teams to drive best practices for social media.

EDUCATION

Princeton University, Princeton, NJ — Ph.D. in chemistry, 2007
Drew University, Madison, NJ — B.A., ACS accredited chemistry major, Spanish minor, 2002

OTHER SKILLS

Near-native oral and written proficiency in Spanish, HTML, Adobe Premiere Elements

REFERENCES

Joshua Fischman, Senior Editor, Scientific American jfischman@sciam.com, 347-803-6299

Amanda Yarnell, Editorial Director, Chemical & Engineering News
a_yarnell@acs.org, 617-625-0025

CLIPS

"What Makes A Cucumber A Pickle?" Video, Scientific American, 9/16/2016
"This Lung Cancer Drug May Not Be What It Seems, Chemists Say", Forbes, 1/1/2016
"Where Collisions Are Key", Princeton Alumni Weekly, 10/5/2016